C., stating that Postmaster-General Hitchcock has designated 36 additional postoffices as postal saving depositories, which, including those previously elected, will make a total of 129 depositories established since January 1.

The banks are located all over the United States, Staunton being the only one in Virginia in the last announcement. Clifton Forge secured one a month or two ago.

The postal savings bank claus was inserted in the last Republican platform, it was said, as an offset to the bank platform in the democratic platform.

It was understood by many that the platform pledge would be ignored, but President Taft insisted that
